The Family of Theta

Summer is a traditional time for vacations and getting together with family. And, just like families, Theta has reunions.

Theta has a lot in common with family. We even describe fellow members as sisters. And rightly so. When we leave home and family for the first time, Kappa Alpha Theta provides a home away from home. Your Theta chapter is a place you feel you belong and can be yourself; a place to feel safe and supported by friends who are sisters.

Just as there is more to a family than those with whom we live — grandparents, cousins, aunts and uncles — there is more to Theta than an individual chapter. Certainly that's where it all begins for each of us, and those are the ties that will always have special meaning. But when we graduate, move to a new location or change jobs, we find new members of our Theta family. How reassuring to know that most anywhere we go we can find unconditional friendship and a sense of family through our membership.

One of the best ways to appreciate the scope of the Fraternity is through Theta's biggest reunion — Grand Convention. Collegians and alumnae of all ages from each of our 122 college chapters and 91 alumnae chapters, plus many alumnae clubs, unite and reunite at Convention. This June hundreds of Thetas will gather in Scottsdale, Ariz. to vote on legislation that governs the Fraternity and its members, to learn more about Theta programming and philanthropic work, and, best of all, to celebrate sisterhood.

This issue of the Magazine also celebrates sisterhood and membership in Kappa Alpha Theta. In addition to the Fraternity Directory, which provides you with rush data, there's information about membership and rush beginning on page 26. And, there's more about reunions, including how one group of Theta alumnae regularly renew their Theta ties, on page 24.

When U.S. Senator Nancy Kassebaum, Kappa/Kansas, joined her pledge class at a University of Kansas reunion, I had the opportunity to visit with her (see page 18). She and other members of her pledge class were delightful. I thank the Senator for her time and Carolyn Wagstaff for inviting me into her home to share in the reunion.

The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine is another way to reunite with Theta and an extension of the Theta family. Just as families do, our Magazine staff has recently gone through a transition. We were sad to see former Fraternity President Sue Supple retire as director of communications (see page 15) and to say goodbye to our hard working Associate Editor Luci Jackson. But we're delighted to welcome new Director of Communications Karen Alter, Gamma/Butler, who just completed her master's in journalism at Indiana University, and our capable new Art Director Maureen Bowers, Delta Sigma/Ball State.

I hope you'll continue to keep in touch with Theta through the Magazine. And I hope that this summer finds you relaxing with your family, and reuniting with your Theta sisters and sisterhood. Enjoy!

"Measure of a Woman" Inspires More Responses

I am writing to you in regard to the article "The Measure of a Woman." (Winter 1993-94) I was extremely pleased to read the article...(It) was real, touching and really meant a lot to me.

I am coming to the end of my term as vice-president development, and this is one of the most common and pressing issues that I have had to deal with in the past year. Eating disorders are an issue which affects many of the members of the Kappa Alpha Theta community. I have often felt that I am fighting a losing battle. There is only so much that I can do as an individual to help those who have this disorder. But when I read your article I felt so relieved in knowing that I am not facing this issue alone. I feel it is so important that Theta faces this issue head on. Perhaps with the help of many individuals we will be able to help at least a few of those who have this problem.

My only hope is that this is not the end, but rather the beginning of the battle against eating disorders by Kappa Alpha Theta. In the future, I would love to read more articles addressing this issue. And I hope that the article helped Theta leaders realize how urgent it is for them to put forth a strong effort to address this problem.

In my mind, the one thing that we can do as individuals is to show that we are aware of the situation. We can also provide a place for those who need it to seek help. Your article is a great starting point for this. Thank you.

Joanna Storm
Gamma Theta/Carnegie Mellon

"The Measure of a Woman" has become an inspiration for me to tell my story for the first time, here in the pages of our Theta Magazine. I am bulimic. My sisters do not know this, not even the ones that I lived with as an undergraduate at the University of Guelph. My co-workers do not know this, not even the ones I eat lunch with every day. My boyfriends have never known this. I want my story to speak to you, so my story does not happen again...

I traveled back to my final year as an undergraduate while reading this article. I lost 45 pounds in two and a half months and I was praised for my control and dedication. I was very ill, but my sisters seemed so proud of me and did not ever question me, believing that this was something that I had wanted for myself. (I did it for many reasons, but am I am not sure if "I" was one of them.) I am sad to be reminded of how one particular member of our advisory board handled me. She accused me of being heavily dependent on drugs, and much too influential to be a Big Sister to someone I had become great friends with (this friend later decided not to initiate).

I was not on drugs, nor was I a dealer (she accused me of this too)...I was very ill. On one particular day, I slept through a Theta meeting that my roommates could not wake me up for. This was the final sign for this adviser. There was no nurturing. There was no space for me to tell my story. I had no voice at my trial. There was only disbelief and accusation. I was too afraid to tell them how much I wanted them to help me. Afraid to say how much I needed them. I felt that I could not disclose something so intimate and heartbreaking about myself. I did not want to let anyone down. I still cannot allow myself to ever let anyone down. I expect so much from myself...I know that my encounter with this adviser has had drastic effects on my life from that very moment to the moments that I am now in.

I am accountable for my actions. We all are. While I cannot change the past, I can shape the future. I can write this. I can force my chapter to take a look back into history and see who I am. To see who they were and are. I know where I have come from, and I know that here is where I want to be, out on the periphery where I have been placed by an adviser so many years ago.

I am proud of my Theta Magazine for addressing an ongoing part of chapter history. Perhaps now my voice is being heard.

Thank you so much for your article about eating disorders in the Winter 1993-94 Theta Magazine! This issue has received far too little attention, and I am happy to see that Kappa Alpha Theta is addressing a problem that affects millions of young women. I hope that your article will inspire many Theta chapters to raise awareness about anorexia nervosa and bulimia on their campuses, and to become actively involved in fighting these horrible diseases.

Readers Recognize Right of Expression

I was shocked and saddened by Mona V. Miller's letter (Winter 1993-94)...She, of course, has every right to express her opinion and you no doubt printed her letter in full. I commend you. First, I do not consider Campus Crusade for Christ an extremist organization. Second, I am thankful that Theta had representation at the CCC conference...I am a Christian who has many non-Christian friends. I am a descendant of early Americans. Yet, I married a first generation American and appreciate his cultural heritage...I am thankful for those of all religious persuasions who have high moral standards. Campus Crusade for Christ has been a blessing to many.

Virginia Mikler
Beta Nu/Florida State

I recently received my Winter Theta Magazine. I was sitting here in the "bush" in my African village when I read the response on page five from Mona V. Miller. I was "horrified" and felt I had to respond to her. First Campus Crusade is not an extremist organization. It is not a religion. It is a group of people who have a personal relationship with Jesus Christ...Secondly, I applaud Kappa Alpha Theta and its collegians for involving themselves in an activity that is not drug related, alcohol related, pornographic, etc...I think it would be "indefensible" to not have our colle-

Varying Views of Rush/Membership

Ever since Thymes Society (at Wake Forest University) affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta on October 11, 1993, there has been a lot of excitement and pride. Sisters wear their letters proudly around Wake Forest to convey their enthusiasm to others. Theta has given our group nothing but support and assistance during these early months, and our combined efforts have paid off. Recently we completed our first rush as Theta, and we are thrilled to share that we were one in only four groups on campus to make quota without snap bidding. As a result we have 38 wonderful new members to add to our strong and diverse sisterhood. The highlight of our rush was the KATS skit, which could not have been possible without the tools of Theta and the talent and dedication of sisters. Rushees and sisters alike sat and watched in awe as the skit was performed.

Affiliating with Theta has not only caused our sisterhood to grow stronger, but it has also given us friends across the nation which we never knew we had. We would like to thank you all for allowing us to join your sisterhood and become a part of this rich tradition of women. Our hope is that the Zeta Omicron Chapter will add to this tradition and live up to the standards and ideals of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Paula Tipton
Zeta Omicron/Wake Forest

As a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, the sister of a Theta and the mother of a Theta, I am surprised that an organization as strong and individual as Theta has been pressured into joining ranks with so many other factions of today's society in promoting sameness among its members...The most exciting moments of rush for me came from going into a house and seeing the personality of that particular house reflected in the skits, what the sisters were wearing, what kinds of girls they were. Each sorority had its own distinctive style and personality and you knew where you fit in and where you felt at home...

Now Panhellenic and the Fraternity are attempting to take away that individuality and dictate what the chapters can and cannot do. Continuing down this path can only weaken and eventually destroy the backbone of the system...Why change what has worked so well for so long and has kept Theta on top? These girls need to be able to put on a great rush, using all of their individual talents and creativeness...Each sorority should be able to show the rushees exactly what they are about.

Shaping Livelihood and Life

Theta helped shape Heidi McHugh Pendleton's livelihood — and her life. Not only has it provided her with role models and support (both personal and financial), but also it has strengthened the bond of sisterhood with her sister, Deirdre McHugh. Both were initiated into Omega Chapter at the University of California, Berkeley.

Today Pendleton is an assistant professor of occupational therapy at San Jose State University, where she teaches physical disabilities and is field work coordinator. At the same time, she is a Ph.D. candidate in occupational science at the University of Southern California. She is writing her dissertation on the role friendship plays in the lives of aging women with disabilities.

The role Theta friendship has played in Pendleton's life began three decades ago. She was introduced to Theta by well-known architect Julia

Maser. "I was a baby sitter for her sons and admired her numerous accomplishments and her fun, outgoing personality," Pendleton recalls. "I remember sitting in her living room looking through her yearbooks and finding her pictures with the Theta (chapter) house. I wanted to emulate her and was thrilled when she offered to write a recommendation for me. There is not a significant accomplishment in my life that goes by without my thinking of Julia Maser and the inspiration she gave me to achieve."

And Pendleton is an achiever. Since 1972, she has helped children and adults with physical disabilities resume productive lives. But she wanted to go a step beyond and teach occupational therapy classes. So she earned a master of occupational therapy degree in 1986. Not content to stop there, she began the pursuit of a Ph.D.

USC was so interested in having Pendleton in the first class of occupational science doctorates that classes were rearranged for her convenience. For three years, she commuted between Los Angeles and Palo Alto, where she lives with her husband, Forrest Pendleton. Monday through Wednesday, she taught at San Jose State; Thursday and Friday, she attended her doctorate classes at USC. She passed her written and oral qualifying exams in April. Helping to make this possible, financially, were Theta Foundation scholarships. Pendleton was a recipient of the Gerald Pollack Scholarship and the Betty B. and James B. Lambert Scholarship.

Pendleton has given back to Theta, too. She is vice president of the house corporation board of the Phi deutron Chapter at Stanford and has been an active member and officer of the Long Beach and Palo Alto alumnae chapters.

"Theta has given me opportunities to connect and make a difference in the lives of others," Pendleton says. While working at Children's Hospital at Stanford, she encountered a Theta sister whose child was a patient. "I think that my presence provided extra support and boosted her confidence in her child's care."

Pendleton has had several graduate students at San Jose State who are Thetas. "Though the bond did not insure them better grades, we seemed to develop a mentoring relationship quickly," she explains. "So far, each has turned out to be a leader in the class, both in scholastic achievement and professional behavior."

Community Contribution

Junior Cotillion, a service that the Lincoln Alumnae Chapter has provided to our community since the early 1950s, gives local seventh grade students the opportunity to learn ballroom dance techniques, partner dancing and social manners, while raising money for local concerns as well as Theta.

The chairman of Junior Cotillion hires a local teacher for instruction, and Theta alumnae and parents chaperon each dance. The students learn several dances including the waltz, fox trot, jitterbug and even the cha cha. The sessions are held for six consecutive Friday nights in the mid-winter months. Each class lasts about an hour and a half, including a light refreshment break. Prizes are awarded at the last class for special dance categories.

Junior Cotillion involves many of our alumnae members. They are needed to help chaperon the dances, serve refreshments, help compile the list of seventh grade students, help with mailings and make name tags.

In 1993, 85 students attended Junior Cotillion (tuition was $25 per student), which resulted in a profit last year of more than $1500. The proceeds from this successful project are directed 50 percent to community programs that support needy children and 50 percent to Theta-related activities, including CASA, the local college chapter and its scholarship fund.

The seventh grade students are offered an enjoyable, refreshing activity and the opportunity to meet students from other schools, while learning a valuable lifetime skill. Based on the feedback from both parents and children, this project provides a unique and needed service to our community, and we are very proud to provide it.

PERSPECTIVE

Loyalty and Legacies

"I will no longer be able to continue as a Theta alumna."

Why would a long-time Theta give up her membership?

"My Theta pin will never be worn again...It doesn't mean to me what it once did."

What could prompt such an emotional response from a Theta alumna?

These statements are from a sampling of letters the international Fraternity has received from Theta alumnae whose relatives were not invited to membership.

When a Theta daughter, sister or other relative is not extended a bid from a Theta college chapter, it may divide alumnae from collegians and, sometimes, even separate them from their own Fraternity memberships. In many cases, these alumnae are lost to us forever.

Is there a way to build a bridge concerning the value of our legacies?

Our alumnae want to share with their sisters, daughters and granddaughters the pride, affection and special ties that come from their own membership in Kappa Alpha Theta. For these young Theta relatives to be denied by the very organization that has fostered such a depth of feeling makes the disappointment intense. The overriding factor for an alumna is the hurt that her legacy feels.

When alumnae see legacies who are not invited to membership, they may wonder about Theta's legacy policy. One concerned alumna wrote, "We had assumed being a Theta legacy meant something. We were looking forward to passing this precious gift of Theta sisterhood to our daughters. Legacies bring a rich sense of Theta history and tradition that no other pledge can...What consideration are our daughters given over other rushees?"

Being a Theta legacy does mean something.

All of the Fraternity's membership selection materials, which are designed for our college chapters, stress the importance of pledging legacies because of the loyalty and tradition they bring to a chapter. In addition, college chapters practice membership selection procedures that are designed to place Theta legacies in the best possible position while going through rush.

Using Kappa Alpha Theta's Weighted Ranking System (see page 26), a standardized voting system based on each chapter's "yardstick": the membership tool by which each year college members determine the qualities they are looking for to best enhance their entire chapter membership. Theta legacies are given bonus credit for their legacy status at the outset of rush. This credit is above and beyond any of their academic or extracurricular activities. They are elevated within our membership selection process because they are legacies.

From that point forward, the decision to pledge or not to pledge rests with the college chapter. The Fraternity stresses that legacies not be voted on as a separate group early in membership selection, but rather that they be carried throughout rush as any other rushee. Voting early doesn't allow the legacy the exposure to the college chapter members that non-legacies receive. If a legacy is invited to preference, her name must appear on the first bid list or the top of the second list.

In an effort to protect the privacy and feelings of our legacies, the Fraternity insists that no phone calls be made by membership or rush advisers to Theta alumnae, advising them of the status of their legacies during rush. It is, however, a rushee's prerogative to say whatever she likes about the invitations she does or does not receive.

In addition to following the procedures established to benefit legacies, our college members must be reminded continually to consider how they would like their own relatives treated as Theta legacies during membership selection. And, just as collegians must give careful thought to the feelings of alumnae, alumnae must trust their collegiate sisters to make the right choices.

Rush, by its nature, is based on mutual selection. It involves risks that rushees should be aware of when entering the process. Although this awareness may not ease the pain felt by a young woman who is not extended a bid, it can contribute significantly to the attitudes of our legacies during rush.

As Kappa Alpha Theta grows, our legacy numbers increase, making it impossible to have spaces in our chapters for all of our legacies. In fact, on many campuses, there are more Theta legacies going through rush than the total number of new members the Theta chapter can take.

Our alumnae must also remember that there is great value not just in Kappa Alpha Theta membership, but in Greek membership. To tell our daughters, sisters and granddaughters differently contributes to unnecessary disappointments.

One alumna, whose daughter was not invited to membership in a Theta chapter, shared her thoughts on this subject with Fraternity President Carryl Krohne. She wrote, "...this denial of a daughter to Theta also happened to me. I appreciated your comments and do agree that time is a healer. My daughter did find the correct sorority for her and her experiences at the university were enriched because of those choices. My heart was indeed hardened to Theta for a while, but life goes on. Intersections of life are sometimes difficult, but always there are positive beginnings ahead."

Increasing awareness of this emotional issue by both alumnae and collegians will benefit Theta members and our legacies. It will help give these young Theta relatives the greatest opportunity possible to become part of the Greek organization that is best for them.

Views on Proposed Alumnae Legislation for Convention

In the Winter 1993-94 issue of the Magazine, Vice-President Alumnae Kathy Tonkel wrote about proposed legislation for alumnae groups, to be discussed at the 1994 Convention. She asked for reader responses to three questions. Following are the results as of May 1, 1994:

1. Of those who responded to the Winter 1993-94 Perspective, 72 percent said they think the number of meetings required of an alumnae chapter should be reduced from six to four. Citing increasingly busy schedules, many wrote that more than four meetings is difficult to arrange and that attendance might be improved by scheduling fewer. Several readers noted that this decision still would provide chapters the option to hold more than four meetings if members wish. Some said they think the Founders Day meeting should be in addition to the four.

Those who thought that alumnae chapters should continue to be required to meet six times each year doubted that fewer meetings would sustain alumnae interest and communication. Wrote one alumna, "I feel that reducing the opportunities to be together and be involved with Theta dilutes the value of the experience. It does not nurture growing relationships. Many of us feel a growing loss of communication."

2. Sixty-four percent of respondents wrote that they believe a portion of an alumnae chapter's annual donation to the Foundation should be required to be unrestricted, but most said the unrestricted portion should be a small or unspecified percentage.

A minority of readers — 32 percent — stated that alumnae should have the right to allocate donations as they wish. Many on both sides of the issue expressed the opinion that alumnae chapters should maintain the power over how their donations are used.

3. The vast majority of respondents said they agree that specific guidelines should be adopted for the disestablishment of alumnae chapters and clubs, and for the disbursement of treasury funds. Most wrote that they think this would be a logical solution and that funds should go to the Foundation, while some believe the alumnae chapter or club should decide where funds would go.

A few readers said they believe that formal guidelines are unnecessary, "...other than to specify that disbursement of treasury funds should be decided by the vote of the entire chapter."

Your Top 12 Ideas on How to Improve Theta Membership

In the inaugural "Perspective" column, in the Autumn 1993 issue of the Magazine, President Carryl Krohne asked readers to share their one best idea about how to improve Theta membership. Following is a summary of the more than 110 ideas submitted:

- ◆ Extend the length of the Member Orientation program.
- ◆ Play down exclusivity and stress membership's enrichment to a well-rounded student's college experience.
- ◆ Keep recommendations strong. Consider legacies first. The result will be stronger chapters.
- ◆ Develop ways to make Theta involvement so fun and rewarding that it will leap ahead of other volunteer options. Revamp alumnae program to offer more attractive, meaningful experiences.
- ◆ Magazine is a great marketing tool.

Distribute it during rush.

- ◆ Eliminate fall rush. Second semester freshmen are better prepared to make an educated choice and grades are better established.
- ◆ All views need to be heard before Convention passes legislation.
- ◆ A visible, viable alumnae group seems to help everyone.
- ◆ Good morals should be upheld for future strength and friendship.
- ◆ Allow the standards committee of a college chapter to hold funds — either from alumnae donations or from the chapter's surplus — to grant partial or full payment of a member's dues if she is suffering severe financial hardship.
- ◆ Big Sisters should be revealed before initiation.
- ◆ Become a more positive presence on campus.

Remember...Theta Needs You!

Remember those wonderful college years with Theta...the shared tears, the out-of-control giggles, the warm friendships with so many sisters? In our ever changing world these experiences are still there for today's collegiate Thetas, but we need your help to ensure the atmosphere that allows these special Theta memories.

Theta was there to enrich your college years and now you have the opportunity to give something back. Kappa Alpha Theta needs you!

Many options are available for alumnae members to contribute to the Fraternity. We have an immediate need for a college district president in District I, as well as for advisers for our collegiate chapters.

Prior experience is not necessary. An interest in young women and the willingness to serve is what is required. Training and support resources are available to volunteers. These collegians are bright, enthusiastic young women who need your support as an adviser.

Your reward will be new friends, new Theta memories and the knowledge that you are helping make those enriching memories for today's collegiate Thetas.

Theta is a Fraternity for women supported by volunteers and your assistance will make a difference. Theta is for a lifetime!

If you are interested in volunteering for Kappa Alpha Theta or would like more information, please contact: Director of Volunteers Janet Peters, 8740 Founders Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46268 or call 1-800-526-1870.

Close-Up

The oldest living member of the Beetles — the society that preceded the Gamma Theta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta at Carnegie Mellon University — was honored Saturday, Feb. 26 at a tea in Miami, Fla.

Honoree Zabelle Davis Horne, spoke fondly of her days in the drama department at Carnegie Mellon and her membership in the Beetles, later known as Beta Tau Lambda. She was a member of the young sorority's first pledge class in 1921. "I wore my little beanie that first year and had a wonderful time," she reminisced.

Horne also recalled the tea dances, held every Wednesday in the foyer of the fine arts building, and the newfound freedom women students felt about the then-recently enacted 19th Amendment. Smiling, she said, "Yes, I was a flapper!"

Gamma Theta Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta marks its 50th year on the Carnegie Mellon campus this year. For its celebration — to be held this fall during Homecoming — members of the Beetles are assembling mementoes of the earlier sisterhood.

Alpha Theta alumnae celebrated the renovation of the Alpha Theta Chapter house with a tea honoring Mary Frances Bowles Couper, Alpha Theta/University of Texas, major contributor to the project. Couper's donations helped complete the refurbishment of the living and dining rooms. Other guests of honor included members of the chapter's Mother's Club and contributors to the Kitty Fund.

Members of Delta Chapter are celebrating their recent jump in scholarship ranking among women's groups on the University of Illinois campus. With 12 members receiving a 5.0 grade point average and overall academic improvement among members, Delta Thetas moved ahead eight spots: above the all sorority average and all women's average. The chapter also received a third place ranking in the Borelli award, a prestigious honor on the Illinois campus.

Epsilon Epsilon Chapter at Baylor University held its annual "Theta Taters" event to raise money for CASA last November. The all-university event hosted 400 participants for a baked potato dinner and Theta home-baked desserts. Tickets and T-shirts were sold to raise additional money, and all leftovers were donated to the local Salvation Army Food Kitchen. Epsilon Epsilon collegians contributed about 400 hours of service to make this event an outstanding success.

Members of the Delta Theta/Florida Chapter participated in the Alachua County American Cancer Society's "Jail and Bail." For the second year in a row, Thetas won an awards for the most sorority support of the event, raising the most money and the largest number of participants. The event was a campus-wide activity for students, staff and administration. Those "arrested" had to report to the student union jail and phone friends, family, and local businesses to raise money for their bail. Money raised from the event totaled nearly $16,000 and was donated to the American Cancer Society.

During the Fall 1993 term, the Alpha Sigma/Washington State Chapter excelled scholastically and socially. At the annual Panhellenic Scholarship

Dessert, the chapter won awards for having the highest grade point average for sophomore and junior classes, as well as the academic achievement award for the overall highest grade point average. Socially, the chapter took the first place trophy in Acacia's kickball tournament and second place in Lambda Chi Alpha's Watermelon Bust.

The Montgomery County, Va. Christmas Store benefitted from the Epsilon Nu/Virginia Tech Chapter's hard work during the holiday season. Chapter members not only collect canned foods for the store, but helped prepare the store by repairing the building, sweeping the parking lot, cleaning the store and taking out trash. The generous Thetas enabled the Christmas Store to help nearly 1,100 local families afford food, toys, household goods and other items during the holiday season.

More than 85 Los Angeles alumnae and Beta Xi/UCLA chapter members worked together to benefit CASA last November. At the Third Annual CASA Craft Workshop, Thetas made sock puppets, hand-painted sweatshirts and decorated plastic cups for the children in the city's CASA program.

The fourth annual Cardiac Arrest fundraiser was a huge success for the Delta Zeta/Emory Thetas and co-sponsor Sigma Chi. The collegians raised nearly $1,500 for the American Heart Association by serving "false arrests" to students and professors. The jailbirds then had to raise money for their bail by collecting change from the audience in order to be set free. More than 100 participants were "arrested."

Eighty members of Beta Nu/ Florida State Chapter were "roofers-for-a-day" in February. The women teamed with the Tallahassee Housing Foundation and members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon to repair four houses in the Tallahassee area. The chapter also completed a three-on-three basketball tournament to benefit CASA and hosted annual projects to benefit the Angel Tree, the Lighthouse Children and blood drives.

Sue Supple Retires, but Still Reaching for the Stars

The dynamic leadership style for which Sue Supple has become known is reflected in some of her favorite themes: "Blue Sky Thinking," "The Sky's the Limit," "Reach for the Stars!"

For more than 25 years, former Grand President Sue Supple — who recently retired from the Fraternity staff as director of communications — has been a force for leadership in Kappa Alpha Theta and the Greek community.

"All those who encounter and work with Sue are stretched because of her own genuine devotion to the Greek experience," explains Theta President Carryl Krohne.

Supple's own Greek experience began nearly 40 years ago when she became a member of Theta's Alpha Chapter at DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind. Of that time, Supple has written, "Meeting the collegians in the Theta chapter at DePauw only confirmed what I had known for years. The most interesting women — the women you wanted most to emulate — were Thetas..."

Although Supple is quick to credit fellow Thetas with encouraging her, today it is she who is named by many as one of their most important and favorite role models.

Former Theta Director of Scholarship Mary Overton Caldwell, Omicron/USC, was a collegian when she first met Supple, and later worked with her when Caldwell became a chapter consultant and then a member of the college committee. Says Caldwell, "In all my years, professionally and as a volunteer, I have never met another person like Sue Supple. Since meeting Sue, I have tried to emulate several of her qualities. Her energy and drive, coupled with her incredible strength of character, are impossible to duplicate."

Supple has dedicated herself full-time to family (husband, Bob, and three children, now grown), Theta and the Greek community. Among the Fraternity positions she's held through the years are college district president, Vice-President College, NPC alternate delegate, Grand President and, later as a member of the Fraternity staff, editor and director of communications.

"Sue's basic belief in young people and in the importance of the Fraternity system is what has led her to devote so many hours to volunteering for the Greek system and to giving back not only to Theta but to the entire Greek community," says Kappa Alpha Theta Executive Director Marcia Bond. "Sue believes that the fraternity system offers opportunity and support for young people in a caring environment — something not found anywhere else in the university setting."

With each step in her years of service, Supple's influence has widened from Theta collegians and alumnae to the hundreds of young people, parents, Greek leaders and university administrators whom she has informed and inspired through writing, speaking and workshops across the country.

"She exudes class, grace, poise...She is warm, personable, gentle, intelligent, articulate and dedicated," says Delta Upsilon Executive Director Jeff Cufaude, formerly a member of the National Interfraternity Conference staff. "She envelops students and colleagues with her openness and willingness to listen...and subtly touches their lives in so many ways. She is a woman who truly 'walks the talk.'"

In addition to her involvement with NIC and the National Panhellenic Conference, Supple serves on a number of boards of directors, including Order of Omega, DePauw University Alumni and Fraternal Affairs, and the LeaderShape Institute. She also is in demand on university campuses, at national and regional conferences, as a workshop leader and speaker.

Some of the issues on which Supple speaks are ones she helped focus attention on as Fraternity President, including date rape, hazing, diversity and human dignity. Others she addressed as director of communications were ethics, global society and the future of the Greek system.

In her years of service to the Greek community, Sue Supple focused on her belief in young people and the importance of the Fraternity system.

Theta's founders have always been an integral part of Supple's Fraternity perspective, and interpreting the ritual to make the membership experience more relevant and meaningful became a hallmark of her Fraternity service. She often combined this perspective on the past with a focus on the future. A science fiction fan, she is fascinated with what lies ahead, but also believes that planning for the future is essential for the well-being of the Fraternity.

At the 1986 Grand Convention, Supple demonstrated the power of leadership. With finger snapping, hand rubbing and feet stomping, she led the delighted group of more than 700 collegians and alumnae in making a Theta thunderstorm.

Since that time, Supple has continued to help members of Kappa Alpha Theta and the Greek community create thunderstorms. She has motivated not only through speaking and writing, but through her concern for the individual. She is known for remembering names and taking time to visit with each collegian, alumna or staff member. Supple, both mentor and friend, has the unique ability to share a vision, to make things happen, to face the future head on.

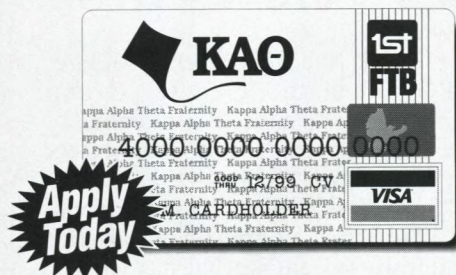

Today Supple's own future is filled with speaking commitments, workshops and plans for building a new home in Michigan with her husband. She is ready: Ready for change and for new challenges. Sue Supple is once again reaching for the stars.

Theta Volunteers are Pros

Thousands of volunteers keep Kappa Alpha Theta the strong, dynamic organization for women that it has been for nearly 125 years.

These volunteers are professionals in the multi-faceted work they do for Kappa Alpha Theta. Theta alumnae work not for money or for recognition. They give unselfishly of their time, energy and expertise because of their commitment to Kappa Alpha Theta, its members and the work of the Fraternity.

They have in common the camaraderie of Thetas throughout the world, and a desire — which they are helping fulfill — to give future generations of young women the opportunities they have enjoyed through Kappa Alpha Theta.

Some very special Theta alumnae have made long-term volunteer commitments to the Fraternity. Among them are the following women who have received awards from the Fraternity for their years of service as Kappa Alpha Theta state/province chairmen or permanent alumnae secretaries.

Congratulations and thank you to these women for their service to Theta!

My Dear Louise Simpson,

"...I began as PAS for Alpha long before it even had this name and have been carrying on ever since, even though my situation has changed radically. I enjoy doing the work and, of course, have some knowledge of the girls of Alpha, having initiated the classes of Alpha since 1925 until about six years ago. So I do know many, and some of their families or relatives. That has been a big help. I am willing to continue as long as I can, but I am not as efficient as I once was.

I've been able to work with the DePauw Alumni Office very satisfactorily and am still in touch with them. They are very willing and helpful. One other way I have information is through the groups who still have communication of their classes...As for my contact and cooperation with the chapter, I have no difficulty. They are very good to cooperate, do anything I ask, keep me informed and help with getting the senior blanks. I got all of them this spring and have made up the cards for my file.

Since I am 96, I do think it is time to keep an eye open for someone who can succeed me. I am still in excellent health, it seems, but cannot predict the future...I do want to commend you on how you are taking hold and conducting your job. I think you are a jewel and hope the troubles you have with such as me will not discourage you. I am not deserting you — just warning! My appreciation and thanks for what you have undertaken for Theta.

Sincerely yours,

*I*doze as we shuttle out of Kansas City in the van that will carry us to Lawrence. I'm half awakened by the driver making small talk with the passenger in the front seat — his voice raised above the rumble of the vehicle. He tells a story about a passenger from L.A. who was startled by the thinly-traveled Kansas highways: "Where are all the cars? This is eery!" The passenger laughs.

I'm awake now, looking through the window to the Kansas prairie. Low, rolling hills. So much space in every direction that it almost makes you feel light-headed. I'd forgotten how big it feels. I was reared in Iowa, but I've lived 13 years in Indiana. That's still the Midwest, but different. This seems more open, more free, more real.

This is the land from which U.S. Senator Nancy Landon Kassebaum hails. Here are the roots to which she returns from Washington, D.C. as often as possible. She was born to this land. It is in her nature, even in her name: Landon, meaning "from the land."

In Lawrence we pull into the curving drive of Theta's Kappa Chapter house, complete with pillars and pots of pansies. In the early 1950s, it was here on the University of Kansas campus that Kassebaum spent most of her college years as a member of Kappa Chapter.

This is KU's alumni weekend and the 40th reunion of the class of '54. There's a sign to welcome Theta alumnae. I've been remembered by the Kappa collegians with a gift bag full of Kansas goodies and a volunteer to drive me to the home of one of Kassebaum's pledge sisters.

It is her husband who greets us at the door because the Theta pledge class members can't hear us over the buzz of reminiscing. I see them in the sun room: a group of lovely, laughing women, gathering for a photo. As I near, I hear them joking about how the photographer put all the campus queens in the front row: "How did he know?"

A silver haired woman seated in the middle of the group greets me. As she rises, the first thing I notice is that Sen. Kassebaum is just my size — 5' 2"! Nice brown eyes. And she has this great grin. She introduces me to the group and visits easily with the Kappa collegian who has brought her a gift from the chapter.

Kappa Chapter Class of '54 members Ann King Mertel, Susan Forney Perry (center) and Kassebaum, enjoy the fixings of a perfect Theta reunion: food, fun and friendship.

Once seated in the sunroom, Kassebaum is instantly attentive, completely focused on our conversation, despite the clamor from the ongoing reunion in the next room. I ask her about a quote I read in which a friend of hers said about her, "If she had a chance to go to Rome, Paris, Bangkok, or Topeka, she would choose Topeka."

Kassebaum laughs gently and says it's probably true, although she would like to visit all those places. "But I'm always just real glad to come back home."

The respected, three-term United States Senator has lived in Washington, D.C. for nearly 16 years, but the land where she grew up as the daughter of two-time Republican Governor and 1936 presidential candidate Alfred M. Landon, is still home.

Kassebaum, who has built a reputation for being a fair-minded, independent thinker, is the ranking Republican on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, as well as the senior Republican on the Senate Committee on Labor and Human Resources. In 1988 and 1992 her name was one of those mentioned as possible vice presidential candidates. Yet, right at the top of her resume — listed between her master's degree in diplomatic history and her Senate committee assignments — is "mother of four."

"I think that is my main accomplishment," explains Kassebaum.

She is sincere. She really doesn't know how to be anything but sincere. The down-to-earth Kassebaum has always considered family a priority. On the family's Maize, Kan. ranch (or farm as she prefers to call it), she spent nearly 25 years as a wife, mother of four, 4-H leader and a member of the local school board, before she even considered running for office.

In fact, Kassebaum says she really never dreamed of being a candidate, despite the fact that she was literally born into politics. In 1932, with her father in the final days of his successful campaign to win the Republican governor's nomination, her birth made headlines in the Topeka, Kan. newspaper. She was just four years old when Alf Landon ran for president against Roosevelt. Among her fondest early memories are tacking up posters during that campaign and listening in on discussions of political issues and strategy.

A keen interest in politics and history led Kassebaum to earn a degree in political science from the University of Kansas. There she met Phillip Kassebaum, whom she later married while he was a law student at the University of Michigan. At Michigan, the new Mrs. Kassebaum received her M.A. in diplomatic history.

Although she had considered becoming a foreign service officer, Kassebaum explains that at that time you could not be married and join the Foreign Service Officer Corps And, she adds, "It really wasn't an option (for a woman) to run for office."

It wasn't until the mid-'70s that it became an option for Kassebaum. In 1975, separated from her husband, and her oldest child already in college, she accepted a position in Washington as an aid to Republican Senator James Pearson of Kansas. When she and her youngest three children returned to Kansas, Kassebaum says she didn't think she'd be back in Washington, "But I guess I was in the right place at the right time."

Sen. Pearson had decided to retire at the end of his term, and friends in Wichita suggested it was a good time for a woman to run. Kassebaum says she is still sometimes surprised that she made the decision to run for the Senate, but true to form, she made up her own mind. "I spent a lot of walks in the pasture trying to figure out what to do."

Her decision was met with encouragement from her children, her former husband, her mother-in-law and her mother. In fact Theo Cobb Landon was one of her earliest and strongest supporters. Kassebaum says her mother's encouragement was somewhat unexpected because Mrs. Landon, who had long ago given up pursuing a promising musical talent, had never been very interested in politics. Says Kassebaum, "I think with her support she showed that she felt in her own way that women could undertake such work and that she thought I could do it well."

Kassebaum announced her candidacy at a 1978 press conference in Topeka at which she remembers that her father sat with the press, listening to what she had to say. "My dad didn't want me to run because he thought, and rightly so, that it takes money and your personal life is never really your own again. I think also he

State of the Fraternity

This past year, Kappa Alpha Theta faced many new challenges and opportunities for growth. It is fitting then that we've chosen the phrase from our mission statement, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow," as the theme of our annual report because all of our decisions and activities stem from our proud history and commitment to timeless values. Specifically, we saw progress in alumnae programming, raising additional dollars, long-range planning, recruiting and training volunteers and maintaining and building college chapter membership.

One of the most rewarding projects was strategic planning, which got underway in January 1994. It has long been a dream of mine to see Kappa Alpha Theta undergo this process. I see it as our foundation for the future. We employed a professional consultant to work with our Steering Committee in the process that has included surveys, chapter and club focus groups, and key informant interviews. The spring Grand Council meeting was devoted to infrastructure issues and a summer retreat will focus on program issues. The culmination will be a strategic plan for 1994-1998 that has weighted both process and product equally.

As in past Convention years, the 1994 Grand Convention kept officers and staff busy with programming for "Share the Adventure" at the Princess Resort in Scottsdale, Arizona. We worked diligently to return to the basic purpose of this biennial meeting, which is to elect Grand Council and to conduct legislation. We also made an effort to devote our programming to meet member needs.

Extension was another focus this past year which included new chapters at Wake Forest University (Zeta Omicron), Furman University (Zeta Pi) and University of California/San Diego (Zeta Rho). Most recently we installed Zeta Sigma chapter at Ohio Northern University. It's truly rewarding to bring Theta to these outstanding college women.

While Theta's membership is diverse, friendship is universally the same. Our unique bond of sisterhood becomes tangible in many ways, and one of the most touching is through grants from the Friendship Fund to those in need. In 1993, gifts totalling $8,654 were given to Thetas to assist them with personal and family illness, fires and hurricanes and financial reversals. I continue to be touched by the many requests for assistance through this fund.

Collaborative efforts continued with the Foundation. The Fraternity is grateful for the fund-raising efforts and the generosity of its members and friends that greatly enhance the charitable objectives of Kappa Alpha Theta.

For officers and staff, it was a transitional year with new people and positions. Joining the Theta team included a new Fraternity counsel, assistant parliamentarian, director of volunteers, new membership regional directors and finance/house corporation consultants.

Much progress has been made and yet much remains to be completed—enhancing the Greek image, increasing our financial resources, staffing advisory and house corporation boards, meeting programming needs of both collegians and alumnae and continuing our philanthropic projects. As we approach our 125th anniversary in 1995 and in the future, timeless values will be the foundation for new goals to become reality with the continued support of all members, Fraternity officers and staff.

Foundation Programs

Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA)

The Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation completed its 1991-93 commitment of $100,000 in support of the national organization of Court Appointed Special Advocates Association (CASA). Nearly 430,000 children are in foster care in the United States, and CASA is serving approximately one out of four of these children.

The grant helps fund public awareness and educational materials, provides a toll-free number for information and referral, provided five start-up grants and supports the Theta Program Director of the Year Award. In addition to the support given to the national organization, alumnae chapters and clubs and college chapters help CASA on the local level by serving as advocates, raising money and providing administrative assistance. In 1992, alumnae chapters gave more than $125,000 in financial support to their own local CASA programs.

Scholarship Grants

As one of the largest scholarship endowment programs in the Greek world, the Foundation Scholarship Program truly is a vital support system for college women, enabling them to complete degrees and reach their educational goals, complementing the missions of colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada. The scholarships recognize members' high academic achievement, involvement in Theta, and community service. These awards are funded by the Betty B. and James B. Lambert Endowment, the Foundation's Educational Trust Fund as well as tax deductible gifts to the Annual Fund Drive.

For the 1992-93 academic year, 80 scholarships were awarded to 84 recipients totalling $188,070, and the Beta Phi, Baer Buell Scholarship was added to the program. Award amounts range from $500 to $10,000 each.

Awards & Honors

At the Foundations Seminar in September 1993, the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation was awarded:

- Honorable Mention for Best Portfolio
- Third Place for Best Brochure
- First Place for Best New Development Idea (ASK Force)
- Honorable Mention for Best Non-Direct Mail Fund-Raising Effort

State of the Foundation

The Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation experienced continued growth in the past year thanks to generous gifts from our donors, enabling the Foundation to support many important educational and philanthropic programs that benefit our members and our communities. The Foundation Trustees concluded a very successful annual fund drive which included direct mail, telemarketing and personal phone solicitation conducted by the Trustees at board meetings.

The gifts received made it possible for the Foundation to provide a $241,000 grant to the Fraternity for educational programs that touch the lives of our membership:

-Talking About Alcohol, alcohol abuse prevention program teaches our members to make personal low risk choices involving the responsible use of alcohol

-Balanced Woman Member Education Program providing programs on health and social issues that are of importance to women

-Leadership Development programs sent a representative from each college chapter to LeaderShape Institute in the summer of 1993 for a week of intense leadership development and training

-Chapter Consultant Program sent 8 chapter consultants, recent college graduates, on the road on over 150 visits to our college chapters sharing programming ideas and offering support and training to officers and advisers

In addition to the educational programs sponsored by Foundation dollars, a philanthropic grant was given to the National CASA Association to fund their toll free information 800 number, start up grants for new CASA programs, educational and public relations materials for volunteers and the Kappa Alpha Theta Program Director of the Year Award. Theta alumnae chapters and clubs and college chapters lend financial and volunteer support to local CASA programs in their own communities.

Grants from the Educational Trust Fund, the James B. and Betty B. Lambert Endowment Fund and annual gifts from Thetas, family and friends allowed for more than $188,000 in scholarships to be given to undergraduate and graduate members pursuing their educational goals. Theta's scholarship endowment program remains one of the largest in the Greek community and one of which we can all be proud.

The Trustees of the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation are most grateful for your continued commitment and dedication to providing outstanding programs and scholarships that are truly making a difference in the lives of our members, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Membership Regional Directors Appointed

Five membership regional directors (MRDs) were appointed in October 1993 to assist Theta college chapters and rush and membership advisers with all aspects of rush. In this time of decreasing rush numbers, it is important that Theta chapters implement the best recruitment tools available. The MRDs are instrumental in organizing and directing rush activities for new chapters. They track rush results of all chapters and intervene with guidance when concerns arise. These women serve on the Membership Committee of Grand Council and are very familiar with the rush histories of the chapters for which they are responsible. Theta college chapters have benefited from this additional rush support in the past year.

Talking About Alcohol... The Greek Consortium

In 1993-94, 17 chapters underwent training in the Talking About Alcohol (TAA) program, the copyrighted program developed specifically for use on college campuses by the Prevention Research Institute (PRI) of Lexington, Kentucky. It is a peers teaching peers program, using the American Heart Association teaching module to help undergraduates reduce their potential for alcohol related problems, which has been the number one problem on college campuses. Theta, along with Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Chi Omega, formed a consortium in 1991 to address alcohol problems in a way that respects an individual's right of choice about alcohol consumption.

The program involves regional training for chapters from each fraternity group on three or four campuses. Four undergraduates and an alumna/us from each chapter come to a central location for training by professionals from PRI. These students are instructed in peer teaching techniques to take the program back to their chapter members, helping them make low-risk choices about alcohol throughout their lives. Having men and women from the three fraternities able to teach together or substitute for each other makes teaching easier and improves results.

A Theta who recently attended shared these comments, "I just wanted to take this chance to thank you, and Theta, for allowing me the opportunity to attend the TAA workshop. Not only was it fun, it was both interesting and informative. I know the information that I gained has affected my views about alcohol forever. I can't wait to bring this information back to my sisters so they can benefit from it too. I've always known that Theta was "a step ahead of the rest," but this program has reinforced that belief in me. Thank you for such an amazing opportunity."

Chapter Consultant Program

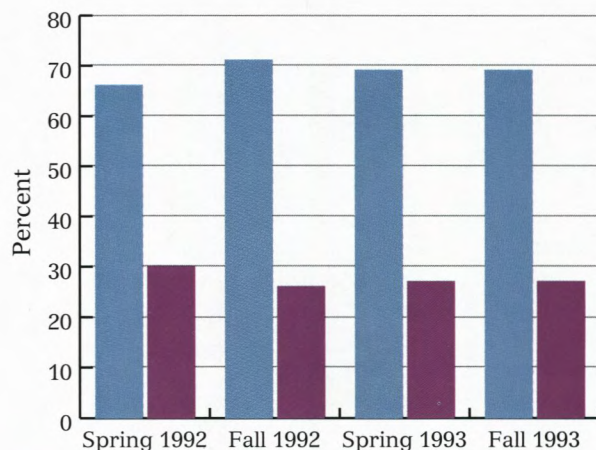

This well-respected program has been funded by the Foundation for many years and continues to serve the Fraternity well. During 1993-94, eight women visited all chapters and worked with several chapters on a more concentrated schedule. The year began with training at Fraternity Headquarters on such topics as officer programming, interpersonal communications, presentation skills, risk management, Fraternity laws and discipline, chapter retreats and much more. Joint training sessions were held with field consultants from the other women's fraternities located in Indianapolis.

During their normal five to seven day visit, the consultants meet with chapter officers, the executive committee, the advisory board and house corporation officers, and the Greek advisor. Also, consultants offer long-term support to struggling chapters and colonies.

The consultants serve as good will ambassadors and as liaisons between the undergraduate members and the Fraternity. One chapter wrote, "We can't thank you enough for sending Sarah to our chapter! She answered all of our questions and gave us so many new ideas. She left us feeling much more comfortable with our responsibilities."

Scholarship

Kappa Alpha Theta is proud of its academic record. During the 1993 calendar year, 1,113 undergraduate members achieved straight "A"s. During that time, 61% of Theta chapters were above the all sorority average. Thirty-eight of our chapters exceeded that minimum standard by ranking first on their campuses for at least one term.

Policy on Academic Achievement

Kappa Alpha Theta expects each member to achieve high scholarship and to develop to the fullest her intellectual, cultural and social potential. Each chapter is required to set a definite scholarship average which members must maintain in order to retain the social privileges of active membership. In addition, each chapter is expected to maintain an average above the sorority average on its campus, and chapter bylaws shall establish specific grade requirements for officers.

LeaderShape™ Institute

The summer of 1993 marked the first time one delegate from each college chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta was offered the opportunity to attend the LeaderShape Institute, a unique week-long leadership experience for college men and women. Begun in 1986 by Alpha Tau Omega, LeaderShape has become a separate not-for-profit corporation teaching more than 1,000 18- to 24-year-old men and women hands-on leadership techniques and offering exposure to corporate executives who share their lives and respond to questions about leadership, careers and values. Theta was one of the first organizations to send delegates when the program expanded to Greeks and non-Greeks.

For the past several years, the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation has funded the attendance of two women from each of three chapters and helped make it possible to send the representatives this year. The main reason for expanding the program in 1993 was because of the positive response from past attendees. LeaderShape has made a powerful impact in the lives of many Theta collegians. Men from ATΩ and from other fraternities, women from other National Panhellenic Conference groups, and representatives from other student government organizations attended. To handle the increased numbers, LeaderShape offered six sessions during June and July of 1993. LeaderShape is held at Allerton Park in Monticello, Ill., with 100 acres of woods set aside for the Team Challenge Course, which provides non-traditional experiences and insights into the group problem-solving process. Family clusters of eight to twelve students and a faculty facilitator provide support and an open environment for learning to work with people of different leadership styles.

Some of the responses from Thetas attending previous sessions are:

"I feel the experience was invaluable and wish every Theta had the opportunity to participate in this incredible program."

"This experience helped me find new insights into my leadership abilities. I was challenged to take risks and try new behaviors...what I learned there, I don't think any college class could have ever taught me."

Balanced Woman Member Education Program

Grand Council continues to evaluate the Balanced Woman Member Education Program, an ongoing program of education for Thetas from bid day throughout alumnae life, based on the input and needs of our chapters. Two new topics were added in 1993-94. An Eating Disorders topic was added to the Sound Mind & Body Module offering ways Theta sisters can respond to health problems present in a chapter. Because the medical facts of these issues are constantly being updated, the chapter is advised to invite an appropriate professional to participate in the program. A Sisterhood topic was added to the Nobler Womanhood Module, highlighting the shared values of Theta sisters which last a lifetime. Possible topics for the future based on a 1993 survey of member education chairmen include: self-defense, self development, death, women's health issues, and etiquette.

Not For Ourselves Alone is the name of the Member Orientation Module of the Balanced Woman Member Education Program. It replaces the traditional pledge program, helping new members become assimilated into the chapter as quickly as possible. New members attend chapter meetings, entering after and leaving before the ritual, and initiation is held within four weeks. Lengthy pledge programs that were developed for a more relaxed time do not fit the schedule of today's college students.

Reinforcing Theta's strong belief in high academic achievement, emphasis is placed on maintaining academic excellence throughout the college experience, not just the first semester to qualify for initiation. The shortened time period and inclusion in chapter meetings and business right from the beginning lead to early assimilation of new members.

One of the highlights of the program is taking a personal style inventory and relating the results to contributions new members make to Kappa Alpha Theta. New members also examine their personal values in relation to Theta's values to ensure that there is common ground. Throughout the orientation period, new members write in personal journals, making commitments in writing to the beliefs in and expectations of Fraternity membership. Theta's new member program has been recognized as a leading program in the Greek world and received an award from the Association of Fraternity Advisers (AFA) in 1993.

Highlights & Activities

Strategic Planning...

A Foundation for the Future

The world continually evolves and changes, as does the Kappa Alpha Theta community. Sometimes the changes are great; sometimes only small. To be an effective organization, Theta must plan for these changes. In order to prepare for the future, Kappa Alpha Theta embarked on a strategic planning process in January 1994. The process will result in a written plan for a multi-year period, 1994-1998. A Steering Committee, comprised of representatives from Grand Council, The Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation, and general membership and staff, was appointed early on to work with Simone Joyaux of Joyaux Associates in Rhode Island to set goals, develop timelines and monitor the overall process.

Throughout the strategic planning process, it is important to gather information internally and externally. Internally, all members were given the opportunity to make decisions about Theta's future through alumnae and collegiate surveys, chapter and club focus groups, Council and Trustee self-assessments, and telephone interviews with both members and non-members. Interviews with non-members included college administrators, Greek and other volunteer leaders, and individuals on targeted college campuses who are not members of fraternities provided information to Kappa Alpha Theta from their perspectives.

From the information gathered, a strategic plan for Kappa Alpha Theta will be developed in August 1994, which will serve as the basis for staff and committee operating plans and activities, will establish the parameters for budgeting and will define the general timetable for the organization. Carryl Krohne, President, emphasized the importance of the past in planning for the future. "Most effective visions draw upon enduring themes to make us feel more confident about stepping out in new directions to deal with a brave, new world. A renewed emphasis on friendship and sisterhood must be rooted in the past traditions of social, intellectual and moral growth created by our founders. A call for greater involvement by our alumnae and for less bureaucracy is related to our early pioneering days when self-reliance reigned." Key elements of the plan include: clear statement of organizational values, vision from the membership, program goals and strategies to achieve the goals, adjustments to infrastructure to support programs and timeframes, and projections of income and expense.

Extension

Kappa Alpha Theta welcomed four new chapters during the 1993-94 term.

The Zeta Omicron Chapter was installed on Wake Forest University's campus in Winston-Salem, North Carolina on November 12, 1993. The members of the former Thymes Society selected Theta from 10 National Panhellenic Council groups during presentations in October.

February 13, 1994. Theta was chosen by the Alpha Kappa Theta, one of seven local groups affiliating with NPC chapters, to colonize on campus. Furman is one of the oldest colleges in South Carolina and considered to be one of the most beautiful campuses in the nation.

During the same weekend of February 13, the Zeta Rho Chapter was installed on the opposite coast at the University of California-San Diego. Theta was invited to colonize by the University's existing Panhellenic system. A team of Fraternity officers interviewed 83 women and chose 60 for the Zeta Rho Chapter. UCSD is known for its science departments and considered to be the "best" in the UC system.

The Zeta Sigma Chapter was colonized at Ohio Northern University in Ada, Ohio on March 21, 1994. A colonization team of Fraternity officers and staff braved a winter storm to make the presentation to a local interest group on campus. Sixty-eight members were initiated at installation ceremonies the weekend of April 23-24.

Report from the Executive Director

The primary mission of the Fraternity Headquarters Staff is to provide professional guidance and resources to the volunteer leadership and undergraduate and alumnae members. During the 1993-94 academic year, several changes were implemented at the Headquarters to help the staff fulfill this mission. As the Headquarters approached its eleventh year, it was time to implement operational changes including installation of a new computer system with electronic mail. This improvement allowed volunteers to increase communication from remote locations via modems and e-mail. In addition a new AT&T telephone system with voice mail allows our members greater access to Headquarters and enhances communication among staff and volunteers. Both of these advances in technology have made many processes much more efficient saving the Foundation and Fraternity time and money.

Part of the Fraternity's overall purpose is to provide a quality experience for the greatest number of undergraduates. So, we are proud to announce that four new chapters were installed during the last year: Wake Forest University, Furman University, University of California at San Diego and Ohio Northern University. These new chapters provide growth for our Fraternity's future.

In order that Kappa Alpha Theta continues to be a vibrant, growing organization, a plan for the Fraternity's future will be unveiled this fall as a result of the strategic planning process currently underway. As the college fraternity system continues to face new and growing challenges, it is our responsibility to be certain that Kappa Alpha Theta continues its traditional role as a leader among fraternities.

District Officer Training

Using a theme inspired by author H. Jackson Brown's "Life's Little Instruction Book," the Education Committee of Grand Council held district office training for district officers at Fraternity Headquarters September 10-12, 1993. Theta's alumnae district presidents and college district presidents participated in intensive educational sessions on subjects ranging from Greek trends to future planning for the Fraternity.

General sessions included a workshop on how to turn "Me Against You" into "Us Against the Problem," directed by College Regional Director Barbara Willman.

Team-building activities from the LeaderShape Institute helped form immediate and close friendships among new and experienced officers. The family cluster idea was borrowed from LeaderShape, with regional directors serving as cluster facilitators. Each officer was asked to set a goal for herself that would increase her effectiveness in working with her Theta constituents.

Awards & Honors

At the 1993 Association of Fraternity Advisers (AFA) Conference, Kappa Alpha Theta received the award:

Excellence in Educational Programming.

The College Fraternity Editors Association (CFEA) awarded the following at the 1993 Conference:

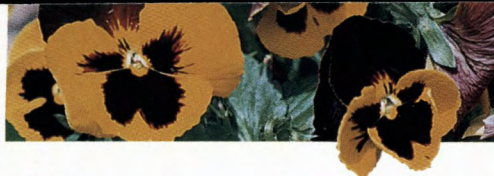

- Second Place in the Annual Report category, 1992 Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity and Foundation Annual Report
 - First Place in the Featurette Content category, The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine

National Panhellenic Conference Recognition

Lissa Luton Bradford, Theta's National Panhellenic Conference (NPC) Delegate, took the first step toward the NPC chairmanship when she was installed as treasurer last November. The former Theta President joined the three-member NPC executive committee at the Conference's 1993 meeting, November 4-7. Bradford will become the third Theta to serve as NPC chairman when she assumes the role in 1997, following her service as treasurer and secretary. In honor of Bradford and in preparation for Theta's holding the NPC chairmanship for an historic fourth time, the Fraternity has made a $10,000 gift to the Conference to further the work of long-range planning by funding activities and projects for the 21st century.

Planning for the Future

TAA

The Talking About Alcohol (TAA) program will use a new delivery format in 1994-95, consisting of a two-woman teaching team (a TAA program coordinator and an alumna) who will visit a chapter and present the program to the members over a weekend. The chapter will identify two to four members who will serve as the follow-up team who will promote TAA within the chapter during the rest of the year. These changes eliminate scheduling conflicts for chapter members, make the role of the chapter follow-up team less time consuming, involve an alumna in the area, and make the program delivery more consistent.

125th Anniversary

1995 marks the 125th anniversary of Kappa Alpha Theta. The year-long celebration begins at the 1994 Grand Convention with many other activities and festivities planned to commemorate the 125th, with the theme, "Renew the Vision." College chapters and alumnae chapters and clubs will be incorporating various celebrations into programs such as Founders Day, initiation ceremonies, alumnae relations, service projects and social events. Historical and feature information will be available through The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine. Kappa Alpha Theta has also designated January 27, 1995, as the international observance day of this historic occasion.

Strategic Planning

When the strategic planning process is completed in the fall, Kappa Alpha Theta will have a clear vision established for the future. Through strategic planning, it is Theta's goal to ensure that its direction and activities are relevant and meaningful to the changing needs of the current membership and the other people we serve, make decisions based on quality information from the membership and in line with industry trends, clarify Theta philosophy regarding programming for collegians and alumnae, allocate resources based on priorities established in the plan, and incorporate the process into Theta's organizational behavior and operations.

Mission Statement

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow, Kappa Alpha Theta exists to nurture each member throughout her college and alumnae experience and to offer a life-long opportunity for social, intellectual and moral growth as she meets the higher and broader demands of mature life.

Our Aspirations for Every Member

- To celebrate individual worth
- To provide the support of loving friends
- To inspire discovery of her full potential
- To encourage independence
- To kindle the life-long quest for excellence in intellectual pursuits
- To prepare its members to assume roles of leadership
- To affirm moral and ethical decisions in all spheres of her influence

Put KAΘ in Your Will

An outright charitable bequest or devise can be of money, stocks, bonds, real estate, or other assets. Theta could be named in a separate item or codicil of your will to receive a specific dollar amount or a percentage of your estate. Some sample wording is found here, but be sure to consult your personal advisor for details.

For general use

I give and bequeath to the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation, a not-for-profit Indiana corporation, of Indianapolis, Indiana the sum of $ (or designated securities or other property), to be used by it in fulfillment of its educational and philanthropic purposes as its Board of Trustees shall determine.

Chapter Consultant Program

Eight outstanding young women traveled across the United States and Canada making more than 150 visits to our college chapters. During week long visits, chapter consultants work with chapter officers and advisers to ensure that Theta programs and policies are being implemented to best advantage. Chapter consultants are recent Theta graduates who are trained to problem solve and support in all areas of chapter programming.

"We can't thank Sarah enough for all the help she gave us. Sarah answered all of our questions and gave us so many ideas that she left us feeling much more confident with our officer responsibilities. We enjoyed her very much and are very grateful for all of her assistance."

Leadership Development

"Dear Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation,
Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to participate in such an amazing event as LeaderShape... I experienced something that I will never forget. I can't even put into words how much I learned in those few days. I learned so much about myself and how to improve my leadership skills, that I am returning to my campus with a renewed confidence in my abilities... I know this will only strengthen our chapter."

Talking About Alcohol

"I just want to take this chance to thank you for allowing me the opportunity to attend the Talking About Alcohol workshop. Not only was it fun, it was both interesting and informative. I know the information that I gained has affected my views about alcohol forever. I can't wait to bring the information back to my sisters to that they can benefit from it too."

Scholarships

The Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation awarded almost $189,000 in scholarship awards in 1993 to 84 outstanding collegians and alumnae members. Award amounts ranged from $500 to $10,000 each.

Scholarships are granted based on academic performance, chapter, campus and community involvement, leadership ability, letters of recommendation and need. Theta scholarships have a significant impact on the lives of the recipients who, often times, are making economic sacrifices to stay in school.

Intellectual development and academic achievement remain one of the principle aims of our Fraternity and the Foundation is proud to support our members in reaching their educational goals.

You can give a gift of life . . .

insurance to the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation. Life insurance is an excellent way to make a substantial, meaningful gift for a modest annual cash outlay. Just a few hundred dollars a year in premium payments can often purchase a $100,000 policy. Or, the Foundation could be named as owner and beneficiary of an existing policy. Insurance can also be purchased as an asset replacement for family members when a large contribution is given to Theta.

If you are interested in a contribution to the KAΘ Foundation through life insurance, consult your insurance agent, certified financial planner or attorney. For more information contact the Development Office at Headquarters at 800-KAO-1870. Gifts of life insurance also qualify you for membership in the Betty Baur Lambert Society.

All About References

Why not tell a college chapter about a young friend who would make a good Theta. Write a letter of reference TODAY!

What to Send

Fill out a rush reference for each potential rushee. These forms may be obtained from:

- the tear-out at the back of this directory
- Kappa Alpha Theta Central Office, 1-800-526-1870
- a Rush Reference Board Chairman or Area Rush Representative
- A State Chairman

Complete information about the rushee's qualifications is essential, and a picture of her is highly desirable. Get both from her or her family IF SHE'S A FRIEND OF YOURS; however, members must NOT call or visit a rushee or her family whom they do not know to request information or a picture.

Where to Send It

Send references to the rushee's hometown reference board. Names and addresses of these boards can be obtained by contacting your local Rush Reference Board Chairman or Area Rush Representative (contact CO for a listing), the State Chairman of the rushee's state (State Chairman are listed in this directory) or by calling Kappa Alpha Theta Central Office at 1-800-526-1870.

If there is no reference board for the rushee's hometown, send references directly to the Reference Chairman (RC) for the college chapter she is attending. These names are listed under the college chapter rush information in this directory.

Remember Panhel Rules

Once rush has begun, alumnae as well as collegiate members from other campuses must not contact rushees; and furthermore, alumnae may not contact members of the college chapters to inquire about the progress of rush. Calls must be addressed to the chapter's membership adviser. Alumnae are also prohibited from sending food or gifts in any form to the chapter on behalf of a rushee. Breaking Panhellenic rules may cause the chapter to be penalized.

Return the Favor

Do remember that an alumna made your membership possible by writing of reference for you. Now it's your turn. Send your letter of reference today!

Any questions? Call 1-800-526-1870!

Gifts of Stock

Do you own stock that has appreciated in value over the years? Are you concerned about paying large capital gains tax at the time of sale? If so, a contribution of stock will help you and Kappa Alpha Theta too!

Generally, you will pay no capital gains tax on stock transferred to the Foundation and receive an income tax deduction for the full market value of the stock on the date of the gift.

If you are interested in giving a gift of stock, consult with your accountant, stock broker or tax advisor. For more information, contact the Development Office at Headquarters at 800-KAO-1870.

Time and Talent

In addition to your financial support, Kappa Alpha Theta needs your volunteer support as well. There is a constant need for Thetas to serve as advisory board and house corporation board members to nurture and support our college chapters. Time and again it is found to be true that behind every strong college chapter is a loyal and strong group of dedicated alumnae. In addition to becoming involved at the college chapter level, the alumnae chapter or club in your area needs your time and talent to participate with fund raisers and projects that directly benefit your community. Joining an alumnae organization can also be a great source of friendship and support in your life. If you would like to learn how to become involved with a college or alumnae group in your area, or start an alumnae club with other interested Thetas, contact Headquarters in Indianapolis at 800-526-1870, Monday-Friday, 8:30-4:30.

thought I would lose and didn't want that to happen to me or to him. He was one of the generation that was working very hard to imagine a woman in the U.S. Senate."

But Kassebaum won her father's endorsement as well as the primary when she ran against eight other candidates, with the slogan, "A Fresh Face, a Trusted Kansas Name." With the help of her oldest children, who drove her to events and filled in for her on the campaign trail, she began her grassroots campaign.

When Kassebaum — who steadfastly refused to make campaign promises — was criticized for her limited political experience, she stuck to her knowledge of the issues and her belief that, "You should bring the same qualifications to the U.S. Senate as the county commission — an understanding of politics, issues and people." Accused by some of riding to victory on her father's coattails, she responded, "I can't think of any better coattails to ride on!"

With such forthright remarks, Kassebaum set the tone for her public service: honest, independent, gracious, but unafraid to take a stand. Then, as now, Kassebaum disliked being labeled and her views on the issues have made it difficult to do so.

The Senator, who has been re-elected twice in a farm state, refused to support a parity bill that farmers were demanding, because she thought it was unrealistic and inflationary. She instead chose to work on a compromise bill she felt could be accomplished. She supported the Panama Canal treaty, when most Kansans did not.

The woman who won the Senate seat without the endorsement of the Kansas Women's Political Caucus is pro ERA, but she opposed extending its ratification deadline. As a strong Republican voice, Kassebaum advocates fiscal responsibility, but has been a vocal critic of both Republicans and Democrats who "discard the basic principal that government should live within its means."

To some, Kassebaum is seen as contradictory. But to others it is only obvious that she knows her own good mind and has the courage of her convictions, "for better or for worse," she says. "Sometimes I have real doubts about decisions. But you bring to it the best judgement you can at the time and hope that it will be successful."

Kassebaum has always been adamant about being judged on her merit, not as a woman. In 1980, reportedly frustrated that her name was suggested as a possible Reagan running mate, she withdrew it, saying she believed she was not qualified at that time to be president and that she believed her name was on the list because she was a woman.

In another widely reported incident, after Kassebaum was named deputy chair of the 1988 Republican National Convention, she passed up the televised opening night, because she was concerned that her presence was more for appearance than substance. Described as "velvet covered steel," she made her point absolutely clear without making a fuss when she chose to attend a Kansas county fair instead.

Recently Kassebaum was one of the seven women members of the Senate to vote against giving four-star retirement status to Admiral Kelso, as a result of the Tailhook investigation. Although she believes her vote was correct, she says she disliked the fact that the issue became divisive along gender lines. "That's one of the reasons I didn't go to the floor and speak, because I felt it was like piling on — sort of us against them. That's unfortunate".

Adds Kassebaum, "I've never viewed myself as a senator just for women's issues. Women are just as interested in foreign policy and the economy as they are about child care and more family oriented issues."

Since her early desire to become a foreign service officer, Kassebaum's own intense interest in foreign policy has continued. She has been a member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations since 1980. As chairman of the Subcommittee on African Affairs from 1981 to 1986, she is credited with orchestrating passage of the bill that imposed economic sanctions against South Africa for its apartheid policies. After the way was paved for democratic nonracial elections in South Africa, she introduced legislation to repeal the remaining sanctions. "I'm really excited about the South Africa election," says Kassebaum. "It's just extraordinary to see Nelson Mandela and de Klerk — two outstanding leaders — change the course of history in their country. It won't be easy, but it is very rewarding to see."

African affairs and support of the North American Free Trade Agreement are two areas in which Sen. Kassebaum believes President Clinton "did a superb job." However she is critical of Clinton's lack of leadership in foreign policy and concerned about such hot spots as Bosnia and North Korea and Haiti.

"There is a growing need for President Clinton to recognize that foreign policy in many ways is just as important as domestic policy, because a foreign policy that starts to pander has a direct impact on domestic policy...I think it is an invitation to real problems if he doesn't assume a stronger leadership and focus."

Kassebaum believes Clinton's confidence level with the American people is suffering. "President Clinton has not established a level of trust with the public. The public in uncertain. That can leave a vacuum that is dangerous. I think the danger is that a sort of civility of government is hard to sustain." Yet she is not without sympathy, "It's a tough time. I don't know if we've reached a period where we can sustain the presidency for more than one term."

Although Kassebaum thinks that Americans rightly feel overwhelmed with the issues and overloaded with information, she does not believe the nation's present disillusionment with government is warranted, and says it is cause for concern. "As it grows, it's so easy for those in public light to demagogue a simple issue (she cites the debate on Senate parking privileges) and hold it up as an example of how irresponsible Congress is; that it thinks only of itself; that we are bought and sold. Well, that's just not true. I don't know how we can get that (trust) back. On the one hand, the public feels that they have been deceived, and on the other hand, when you hold a town meeting, you get very few people to come out, particularly in bigger towns. So how do you reach people when you want to have a debate on the pros and cons of an issue?"

Working on the issues is the best part of serving in the U.S. Senate for Kassebaum. She says, "It's a real pleasure to work on something that turns out to be positive and seems to work well." Currently, she is especially happy with the March passage by the Senate of legislation she wrote, which limits aircraft manufacturer's liability on planes that have lasted 18 years or longer. After working for eight years on this legislation, Kassebaum says its passage will result in the reduction of the cost of new planes and the creation of thousands of new jobs in the aviation industry.

Kassebaum is respected as a coalition builder in the Senate. This year, she introduced, with Democratic Sen. Bob Kerry, bipartisan legislation to overhaul the current federal job training system, and co-sponsored the first bi-partisan major comprehensive health care plan.

Viewed as a moderate on social issues, Kassebaum has given health care top priority, but she believes Hillary Clinton's role in its reform was ill advised. "I think it was a mistake, frankly, for the administration to have Mrs. Clinton personally become the one to develop the Clinton plan. It puts them directly and personally front and center and that's a risk. Mrs. Clinton is a very wise and focused woman, who has done some extraordinary things, but I don't agree with her on some issues, and I really think her involvement in Whitewater was a real conflict of interest as a lawyer."

Keeping the issues her priority, Kassebaum does her homework and doesn't do receptions, "unless they're Kansans." She explains, "They wear me out. I mean I love to be able to go home and put on my jeans. And I take work home with me. I do letters and reading until about 1 a.m."

That is the end of a long day for Kassebaum that begins about 6 a.m. She also doesn't do breakfast meetings, "unless they're absolutely essential," preferring to read the papers thoroughly before arriving at the office around 9 a.m. "If you don't do it then, you never do it," says

Kassebaum, whose day is filled with meetings and hearings.

The Senator works hard to protect the little private time she has. Free time is spent reading, gardening and babysitting for her grandchildren. Her daughter and her family live nearby, while her three sons and their families are in South Carolina, Kansas and California. Kassebaum, the grandmother, says, "I am needle pointing Christmas stockings like mad because I'm not quite through with my granddaughter's, who is now two, and with three more on the way, I may never make it!"

Although making time for herself and her children is a challenge for her personally, Kassebaum says the biggest challenge of her public service is communicating with constituents. "I get about 2,000 letters a week, but some are pre-printed post cards so there isn't a chance to have a dialogue. That's why I love to get out and go to the little towns. I stay in Washington, if possible, a couple of weekends in a row, but on recess I am usually out and around the state."

Not surprisingly, Kassebaum urges young people interested in politics to begin at the grassroots level. "You don't just come to Washington and start a political career," she says. "It's important to establish yourself in the community and participate in community activities. I think you learn a lot when you have to go out and try to sell a school bond issue, for instance, or serve with the United Way campaign. I think it is useful and one of the things that helped me the most when I ran for office."

Kassebaum credits many fellow KU graduates who worked on her campaign — including Thetas — with helping her get elected. She says those relationships continue to mean a lot to her. "My ties are really in the Midwest. I feel it is terribly important to know where your roots are. You've got to be prepared to go home."

Home. One of Kassebaum's pledge sisters sticks her head through the doorway. Does Nancy need a ride? That evening she's speaking at the alumni dinner, which they will attend. No thanks, she'll finish up here and drive over in a bit.

As the women prepare to leave, we visit. When they were in college did they ever dream Kassebaum would be a U.S. Senator? Sure they did. She was destined for it. Has she changed? No, she's still Nancy.

Back in the sunroom, we continue to talk about Theta. At the end of Kassebaum's sophomore year, she became a dorm counselor because she believed there needed to be a balance to the sorority/fraternity system. "I think everybody has to choose where they are most comfortable."

Although she says she went through "sort of a rebellious period" her senior year, Kassebaum says that the friendships made at Kappa Chapter continue to be important to her. She says she's also met many new Thetas from around the country who introduce themselves to her as members of Kappa Alpha Theta.

The conversation turns to what's ahead for Kassebaum, but she's not saying whether she'll run for a fourth term. "That's '96. That's out a ways. I've said that as a politician you never, ever say what you are going to do too soon, because you never know." One thing she will say for certain is that eventually she'll return full-time to Kansas.

Kassebaum offers me a ride back to the chapter house, apologizing for the dog hair on the seat of her blue Nova. No problem, I assure her, telling her about the farm where I live. She's equally comfortable talking about ordinary, every day kinds of things as she is speaking about foreign policy.

As we drive across the campus, we visit about the buildings, what's new with Theta, and she double-checks the spelling of the name of the Kappa collegian who brought her the gift. Will she stay here with her pledge sisters tonight after the dinner? No, she's driving back to Topeka to be with her mother.

As we say our goodbyes, Kassebaum extends a firm handshake as well as an invitation to visit if I get to Washington. I wave as I watch her pull out of the half circle drive to the street.

It is one of those perfect evenings that mingles sharp, cool air with promising warmth. I am alone and linger for a while, savoring that air in slow deep breaths.

I imagine Nancy Kassebaum, later that evening, after the banquet.

Driving alone through the mild, spring night; her window rolled down to the breeze that carries the scent of Kansas earth ready to be planted.

In her car, she rolls gently over the long, low hills — smaller and smaller, until she disappears into the land.

Theta Reunions

You can go home again!

"Well, let me tell you, Camp Kappa Alpha Theta was just about the greatest thing that has happened to me in a long time...It was pure delight. We talked, shopped, ate and laughed non-stop. It was a nurturing, revitalizing oasis. I was afraid of having nothing in common with anyone else. Thomas Wolfe was wrong. You can go home again — at least for a weekend."

— Diane VanAntwerp Harder, Alpha/DePauw

Theta reunions. What else could pull us away from hectic schedules, demanding jobs, families, volunteer and social commitments?

They're a time for sharing memories of some of the most formative years of our lives, while celebrating the women we have become. We renew the bonds of precious friendships made in years past, and also make bold, new ones based on increased levels of experience, appreciation and understanding.

What brings us back together — because it really has never left us — is the bond of Kappa Alpha Theta.

"I feel that our reunions and our friendships are a safe haven — almost a second chance to enjoy and to appreciate sisterhood, in case you weren't paying close enough attention the first time around," explains Jane Eklund Anderson, whose Alpha Chapter class of 1965 reunites regularly. "I find parts of myself revealed in surprising and joyful moments with these friends. Perhaps it's a bit of magical realism — the empowering new experience fused and layered over the older, still solid one."

The Alpha/DePauw class of '65 enjoys reunions regularly, in locations ranging from Indianapolis (pictured here at Theta Headquarters), to Beaver Creek, Colo. and, most recently, Santa Fe, N.M.

Anderson's class has been gathering formally and informally since they left the DePauw campus 28 years ago for locations scattered throughout the country, and careers that range from business, homemaking and art to farming, medicine and education.

Despite their disparate paths, the alumnae have kept in touch since their days together at the Alpha Chapter house by taking turns keeping an annual newsletter circulating. In addition to updating addresses and phone numbers, it has enabled them to bridge distance and passing years by sharing news of life events.

Anderson reports that the group has showed up in enthusiastic numbers for special-year reunions at DePauw ("We win attendance!"). In addition, through the years, the women have arranged several mini-vacations together

("no spouses allowed") at locations that include Chicago, St. Louis and Beaver Creek, Colo. This year, 14 members of the class of '65 reserved the entire Preston House Bed and Breakfast in Santa Fe, N.M. for an idyllic, three-day gathering.

Each of the group's reunions is organized by a two-woman team who handles mailings, deposits and phone calls. Usually the geographic location is agreed upon at the previous reunion. Once the two volunteers are in place, initial letters are mailed, providing alumnae with choices for specific dates and lodging suggestions. A follow-up mailing (a postcard will do) is then sent to those who show definite interest in attending.

Anderson says that individual sisters call each other with "friend to friend nudges" to encourage attendance before a third mailing goes out to collect deposits and provide details about lodging, dining and entertainment opportunities. A final, brief mailing instructs attendees to call or write with their transportation data, in order to coordinate departures and arrivals, as well as details such as reserving rental cars or scheduling shuttles.

Throughout this time, the two-woman team oversees the reunion planning process, making arrangements for enjoyable, affordable activities and restaurants. This year, the team made extra calls to notify the group of inexpensive air fares.

What do the reunions mean to these women? Certainly fun and relaxation, but much, much more. Explains Alpha '65 alumna Judy Samuel Meyer, "It's been a real high for me over the years to watch how our friendships have grown; and to realize, now, as an adult woman that I am still sensing the feeling of empowerment, understanding and support — even after all these years."

Fellow alumna Joan Portle Abrahamsen confides, "There is something truly comforting about the consistency of a bunch of middle-aged women getting together to remember the lives they shared in their most formative years."

Adds friend Joan Fausch Schachtner, "It's a great therapy session."

Another Theta alumna, Suzie Snapp Knechtel, Gamma Mu/Maryland, and three of her Gamma Mu class of 1971 pledge sisters recently gathered with their spouses at Captiva Island, Fla. for a long-overdue reunion. There they celebrated their 40th birthdays and renewed cherished friendships.

Writes Knechtel, "There is a singular kind of support in the sisterhood we share. All of us have growing families and people around us who constantly seek us, out of need. To these people we are wives, mothers and friends, and we give to them without regret. But with these special friends we can always count on a different relationship. These are our sisters, people who give to us without taking, support without need, listen with understanding and hear without judgement. With all that life does to each of us, we are indeed grateful that we know we will always have each other. Thetas for a lifetime."

Four members of the 1971 pledge class of Gamma Mu Chapter at the University of Maryland get together to relax and remember the way they were, from left: Piper Young Loomis, Janice Wright Waitkus, Britt Walderhaug David and Suzie Snapp Knechtel.

Kappa Alpha Theta Membership

Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow

Mission Statement

Yesterday, today and tomorrow,
Kappa Alpha Theta exists to nurture each member throughout her college and alumnae experience and to offer a life-long opportunity for social, intellectual, and moral growth as she meets the higher and broader demands of mature life.

Alumnae Can Help Make Rush Successful

Although it is the responsibility of Theta collegians to carefully and thoughtfully choose new members, Theta alumnae provide important support. How can you help?

Sending references for the young women you like and think would make good Thetas is essential. Use the reference system to introduce qualified women to college chapters by mailing references (see page FD2 in the Fraternity Directory) to the rushee's hometown rush reference board, or, if none exists, to the collegiate reference chairman (Fraternity Directory, page FD3). If you know a Theta legacy, complete a Legacy Introduction Form (Fraternity Directory, page FD23) and mail it to the appropriate chapter.

Your volunteer help is also important. Alumnae volunteers are needed for everything from driving, to preparing snack, to operating computers. Call 1-800-KA0-1870 and ask for the name of the rush adviser of the college chapter nearest you.

You can also encourage Greek membership to the young women you know who are going to college. Your Theta friendships and warm memories are what makes Kappa Alpha Theta special to you, and are a testimonial to the benefits of membership.

See the Fraternity Directory in this issue for additional information, including college and alumnae chapter addresses and phone numbers, Legacy Introduction Form and Reference Form.

A System for Selection: The Weighted Ranking System

Theta's Weighted Ranking System, used in concert with the 1991 Revised Membership Selection Manual, was designed to provide collegians with a fair, positive, efficient and structured approach to Theta rush, while upholding the Fraternity's membership laws and chapter values.

Why was WRS developed?

The Weighted Ranking System was developed to update the traditional rush approach. Here's why:

A changing college environment prompted a reassessment of Theta rush programming. Communication tools have improved. Campus and rush enrollments have declined. College costs are up and more students balance jobs and classes. Students have more campus activities from which to choose and Greek organizations expect more from their members than do most other student associations.

In addition, alumnae chapter support of college chapters has declined and there were requests for a standardized rush system applicable to all

Theta chapters.

How does WRS work?

WRS is a computerized voting system in which rushees are ranked by criteria established by the college chapter members. Rushees are scored by members immediately following each party, so no rushee is overlooked. Informal discussion within the chapter encourages a positive, unifying atmosphere. The chapter invites rushees back or extends them a bid for membership per their ranked and weighted scores.

References from alumnae provide bonus credit to weighted rankings, as well as help promote outstanding candidates. Theta legacies are given special consideration in the form of special bonus credits, which enhances their overall ranked positions. (See Perspective on page 8.)

Why is WRS important?

The Weighted Ranking System reflects the following beliefs of Kappa Alpha Theta members:

- Members' time is valuable.
- Collegians' studies and health should not be compromised by rush.
- Membership selection should be representative of all college chapter members' opinions.
- The Fraternity should be of help to college chapters during rush.
- Chapters should select members within a goal and criteria-based system that represents the values of the chapters.

- The rush experience should embody knowledge and skills transferable to life beyond rush.

For more detailed information about Theta's Weighted Ranking System, contact Vice President Membership Helen Woodward, 8740 Founders Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46268

New Membership Regional Directors Provide Support to College Chapters

In an effort to provide more direct guidance for the membership and rush programs of Theta college chapters, the Fraternity has created a new level of support: membership regional directors.

Last October, five MRDs were appointed: Lynda Clark, Beta Zeta/Oklahoma State; Marilyn Huseby, Alpha Chi/Purdue; Sheryl McGarity, Gamma Delta/Georgia; Amy Mitchell, Gamma Phi/Texas Tech; and Patti Westermann, Delta Zeta/Emory.

These women bring experience and expertise to the newly-created positions. All have previously served the Fraternity in membership capacities at the international or local level.

Each of the MRDs are paired with a college regional director to monitor the rush and membership success of about 30 college chapters. When there is a question or concern with a college chapter's rush, the MRD works with the chapter's local rush and membership advisers to resolve the situation.

The MRDs report to Vice-President Helen Woodward, who believes the newly-created positions will result in more effective and efficient assistance to college chapters, which is particularly important today when campus rush interest and numbers are down.

Should a difficulty arise, the MRD works intensively with the chapter and its advisers to remedy it. When not trouble-shooting, the alumnae spend concentrated time planning and organizing the rush programs of new chapters and stay in close contact with the fledgling groups.

CHAPTERS

On February 12, 1994 two new college chapters of Kappa Alpha Theta were installed in locations and weather conditions that could hardly have been more opposite.

In Greenville, S.C., 63 Furman University collegians were initiated as members of Theta's Zeta Pi Chapter during an ice storm. That same day, under a brilliant sunny San Diego sky, 58 young women from the University of California at San Diego became members of Zeta Rho Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Despite the difference in circumstances, both groups shared the pride and excitement of becoming charter members of two new chapters of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Furman collegians Form Zeta Pi Chapter

Kappa Alpha Theta became the first National Panhellenic Conference group to install on the Furman University campus in Greenville, S.C. on February 12, 1994. With that installation, 63 young women—including 48 members of the local group Alpha Kappa Theta—were initiated as new members of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Furman's local women's groups had considered the idea of seeking NPC affiliation since the Spring of 1992 when Furman University opened its doors to an international Greek system. In 1993 the Inter-Club Council, representing the seven local women's clubs, decided to move forward and seek Panhellenic association.

Furman junior Jennifer Harris, who was a part of the decision making process, says, "I felt the Panhellenic system would expand and strengthen the system that already existed on the Furman campus. Greater resources, alumnae support, reputation and the idea of a broad-reaching sisterhood were ideas that appealed to us."

All clubs endured a marathon of NPC presentations the weekend of January 8-9, 1994. Following group discussions, each individual member ranked her choices of NPC organizations and each club's votes were compiled. A bid matching process was used to pair local groups with NPC groups, and all seven local chapters were affiliated. The results were announced on January 9, and Theta's presentation team gave the prospective chapter members T-shirts to commemorate the day.

When asked why she chose Kappa Alpha Theta, President Wendy Hemingway replies, "The genuineness of the presentation struck us. It showed through every aspect of the presentation. Theta was interested in us as a group and the way we were before we became (Thetas)."

Others were struck by the Fraternity's philanthropic focus and the Friendship Fund, says senior Kelli Stewart. "That really drove home the sisterhood for life idea for me. It's always there providing a support group for women who need it. I'm looking forward to having that connection and support beyond my time at Furman."

Forty-eight members of the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Theta pledged themselves to become members of Kappa Alpha Theta during formal pledging on January 10. A cake reception was held immediately following and more gifts of cups, notebooks, and other Theta items were presented. The chapter members' enthusiasm was contagious. They were excited to begin the process of learning about Kappa Alpha Theta and to develop new traditions for their group.

The next four weeks were hectic. Prior to the installation of NPC groups on the campus, the rush process had left a large disparity in the number of members among the groups. As a smaller group, Theta was given the opportunity to expand its membership without a formal rush process. Quick expansion was a new concept for this group. Since its founding in 1981, the women had always prided themselves on being a close-knit organization, whose motto was "All Committed Together," with the purpose of service to the community. Member Wendy Hemingway admits she was concerned about how the group would hold together, but says she is proud of the increase in the chapter's size. "To say that in the spring of 1993 we were half the size that we are now is just incredible."

Prior to installation, the chapter pledged an additional fifteen members, bringing their total number to 63. One of the newest members, pledged in January, freshman Melody Silvers says, "People were really friendly and willing to get to know me. They welcomed me readily into their group and I got a good feeling from them."

Sophomore Donna-Leigh Eichor, another of the newest members, says, "Theta, locally, is such a diverse group that I felt it wouldn't limit me, but instead would give me a chance to do more. Its values appealed to me. They are based on things that I already believe in."

The Fraternity's member orientation program gave the new members an introduction to Kappa Alpha Theta. Many particularly enjoyed the history portion of the program. Vice-President Development Jennifer Harris was impressed with the values of Theta's founders and how they apply to women today. Most of the women didn't know what to expect, but were pleased with the program. Sophomore Becki Davis says, "I was very excited...I've been having fun since it started. It's neat to say that you are a part of the first (Greek-letter) fraternity for women."

Theta's Zeta Eta Chapter at Wofford assisted with an inspiration week activity and led the group in favorite songs. Many members of the Wofford chapter also shared what Theta means to them and what they hoped the new chapter would find through their association with Kappa Alpha Theta.

Installation weekend was scheduled for February 11-13, 1994, and rough winter weather was forecasted for that weekend. An ice storm hit the Greenville, S.C. area, causing power outages at Furman. President Carryl Krohne was to arrive in Greenville on February 11, but snow in New Hampshire made her travel at that time impossible. Installation team members faced delays and other travel dilemmas.

Despite the inconveniences, the Loyalty Service was held Friday night as planned, followed by songs and gifts to the chapter. On Saturday, former Grand President Lissa Bradford filled in for Carryl Krohne at the initiation ceremony. Zeta Eta at Wofford and Delta Phi at Clemson were assisting chapters.

Sunday the new Zeta Pi Chapter was honored at a banquet, held at the Commerce Club in downtown Greenville. Parents and university officials were in attendance, as well as the Zeta Pi members and local alumnae. President Carryl Krohne, who arrived in Greenville late Saturday night, spoke at the banquet. The Charter Service was held and each Zeta Pi member added her name to the charter.

The weekend was a big success and one that the Zeta Pi members aren't soon to forget. Jennifer Harris sums up the feelings of her fellow chapter members: "I think Theta has strengthened the things that already made our local (organization) so special and so different. The group that we will become with Theta now...will stand out and draw special people who will each enjoy an important place in our group."

Zeta Rho Chapter Founded at UCSD

"In 1870, Kappa Alpha Theta was a pioneer as the first women's Greek-letter Fraternity. Now, in 1994, the Zeta Rho Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta is a pioneer for a new breed of women's organization at the University of California at San Diego. Never before has such a group of intelligent, independent thinking women existed."

Those spirited words, spoken by new Zeta Rho Vice-President Development Angela Calman at the chapter's installation banquet, represented the sentiments of an enthusiastic, talented, and diverse group of 58 women who were selected to become charter members of Zeta Rho Chapter.

In January, Kappa Alpha Theta became the ninth women's group to join the Greek community at the University of California at San Diego. The Fraternity became involved with the campus several years ago when three Panhellenic organizations were invited to colonize as part of a three-year expansion plan.

With the help of local alumnae, as well as a wonderful presentation by the Thetas from the University of California at Irvine, the Fraternity's colonization team interviewed a large pool of women. The recruiting process was easy as Theta's ideals were very appealing to the high caliber of women attending the university.

Even during the first few weeks, the newly-formed group was determined to make a showing in all of the campus Greek events. They were without any officers or committees, but the women were able to work together to organize several activities. Although their schedules were very busy with member orientation modules and preparation for the initiation and installation weekend, the women became involved with inter-sorority sports, and practiced diligently to make their first campus appearance as a group. The result? Kappa Alpha Theta proudly placed third in the Greek Week talent show.

The four weeks of new member orientation passed quickly. Excitement and anticipation were felt by everyone as the installation team, led by Vice-President College Carol McPad-den, arrived on February 11. All 58 collegians were initiated on Saturday, and then signed the Zeta Rho charter Saturday evening. The room was filled with newly initiated members proudly wearing their badges for the first time, ecstatic that they now understood the true meaning of their membership in Kappa Alpha Theta.

Kappa Alpha Theta joined the University of California, San Diego Greek community last February.

The final event of the weekend was the banquet, held at the Princess Resort in San Diego. Vice-President Development Margie Baum was toastmistress, and former President Janet Peters addressed the group, which included many local alumnae, parents and friends.

The banquet was planned by the San Diego Alumnae Club and was combined with their annual celebration of Founders Day. The beautiful San Diego weather and the lovely resort provided a perfect setting for photographs to record the happy occasion. The weekend ended with memories of the fun and friendships in Kappa Alpha Theta that had already been discovered, as well as anticipation for the many that await the new members of Zeta Rho Chapter.

DONOR FILE

Name: Eleanor Hilgenberg Hatfield

Chapter/School: Beta/Indiana 1944

Education: Business

Home: Indianapolis, Indiana

Family: Husband, John; daughter, Debra; son, Noble; and grandchildren

Career: Homemaker and volunteer

Theta Alumnae Involvement: former director of permanent alumnae secretaries and state chairmen; Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter

Foundation: Member of Founders' Society (cumulative gift of $5000 or more), Bettie Locke Society (annual unrestricted gift of $1000 or more) and Betty Baur Lambert Society (recognizes planned gifts to Theta)

Theta is a way of life for Eleanor Hatfield: from her ongoing involvement with the Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter, in which she's been active for nearly 50 years; to her Theta daughter; to her fond memories of working with the membership during her nine years as Theta's director of permanent alumnae secretaries and state chairmen. "It's just an ongoing part of my life," explains Hatfield. "I've done other things, but through it all, the ideals of the Fraternity have worked their way into everything I do."

Today Hatfield and her husband, John — a big Theta supporter — are devoted to tending their beautiful yard, attending symphony and theater events, spending time with their two grandchildren, and giving to Theta. "Theta doesn't run without money," says Hatfield. "Giving is one way to help the Fraternity continue to instill its ideals, which are so valuable to young ladies today."

New Major Gift and Endowment Opportunities

To provide for endowed support of Kappa Alpha Theta educational and philanthropic programs and to give wider recognition to donors, the Foundation Board of Trustees has voted to establish new giving opportunities.

Today for Tomorrow Underwriter Gifts

Now you may underwrite a current Fraternity educational or philanthropic program with a gift commitment of $2,500 to $10,000, pledge or given over a one- to three-year period. The donor — who individual, family, chapter or club — receives recognition in printed materials as a program sponsor.

Underwriting opportunities now exist for our alcohol abuse prevention program, "Talking About Alcohol"; the chapter consultant program; sponsoring collegians attending the summer LeaderShape Institute; or Theta's annual grant to the National CASA Association. For example, you might choose to sponsor a chapter consultant for the year or underwrite a TAA seminar for college chapters.

Essential Edge Endowment Program

With an endowment gift of $10,000 or more, paid over a one- to five-year period, you may provide perpetual funds to support the most critical and priority programs of Kappa Alpha Theta. Endowment can be named to recognize, honor or memorialize individuals or groups. The principal of the gift is retained, with investment gains added each year. A portion of the annual earnings is used to fund the current educational and/or philanthropic programs of the Fraternity.

Named Trusts

With a gift of $25,000 or more, paid over one to five years, you may establish a named trust to benefit specific educational or philanthropic programs, according to your priorities and interests. The trust may be named to recognize, honor or memorialize individuals or groups. You receive a plaque and the trust name is added to a plaque established at Fraternity Headquarters.

To maximize annual returns and maintain perpetual viability, gifts are invested and the principal is retained. A portion of the annual investment gains are added to the principal each year with the remaining allocated annually to the programs as designated by the trust.

For more information about the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation or to inquire about any of the major gift opportunities mentioned here, please contact the Development Department at Central Office at 1-800-526-1870.

Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter Establishes First Named Trust

The Indianapolis Alumnae Chapter recently established the Foundation's first named trust, which will benefit alumnae development.

According to Chapter President Nancy Lofton Longbottom, the group contacted the Fraternity's Development Department to learn what giving options were available to them. "Every year, following our Santa's House project, which benefits the local CASA group, we make a decision about how to distribute the remainder of the proceeds," explains Longbottom. "We have always given to the Foundation and this year we wanted to find out what more we could do."

The $25,000 named trust will benefit alumnae development over a five-year period.

Indianapolis, also home of Kappa Alpha Theta Headquarters, is one of the larger alumnae chapters and is looked to as a leader in alumnae projects and programming. Longbottom says, "We are committed to encouraging other alumnae chapters to support Theta, because we believe better alumnae help our college chapters and the Foundation."

Hey Girlfriend... You're Beautiful!

Jean Danielson and Jane Blackford: The Cosmetic World's Wacky Twins

Wacky, wild, way-out. All words to describe the brains behind BeneFit Cosmetics: Thetas Jane Ford Blackford and Jean Ford Danielson, Beta/Indiana. These twin beauties are making their mark on the cosmetics industry with their quality products and quirky slogans.

Their cosmetics lines — featuring products with names like Roadkill and Indecent Exposure — created sales of more than $3 million last year in prestigious stores, including I. Magnin in Beverly Hills, Henri Bendel in Chicago and New York, Harrods in London, as well as BeneFit boutiques in San Francisco.

Blackford and Danielson began developing their sense of style as children, growing up on a farm outside Indianapolis. The twins spent after-school hours indulging in any creative activity they could dream up. Friends were used as make-up models, their little brother was dressed up, and perfume kits were assembled. Blackford recalls, "Anything that had to do with beauty, we were right there experimenting with things; making our potions and lotions. Our poor friends suffered because of that."

After high school graduation, the young women attended William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., for a year before transferring to Indiana University in Bloomington, Ind. in 1965. The twins fell in love with the Theta chapter on campus, were initiated and lived in the chapter house for more than two years. Each enjoyed forming her own friendships

"Like the groove when you're out, but not on your pout? Like to groove when you're dancin', not when you're romancin'? Hold on, "De-Groovie" is just the ticket. This clear wax melts into fine lines and fills in ground around your kisser...so don't miss'er!"

COSMETICS

Thetas Jane Ford Blackford and Jean Ford Danielson, Beta/Indiana, share BeneFit Cosmetics tips and laughs with celebrity Joan Rivers, host of television's "Can We Shop" program.

and living with different roommates. Plus they had a whole new set of women for guinea pigs!

"During that time we made a little money in the Theta house by selling Holiday Magic. We were always plugged into make-up, so we had our kits and everybody would slam their doors when they saw us coming. They would say, 'Oh my God, they're here again,'" chortles Danielson.

At IU, Blackford studied business and Danielson majored in fine art. Degrees in hand, the twins packed up their belongings, moved to California, and, although they were destined to be business partners, worked at different jobs for a time. Danielson took up photography and taught art at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco, while Blackford worked as a buyer for a retail chain.

After two years, they were thrown back into the beauty business via modeling. "We had a short, but very lucrative career in modeling," says Danielson. "We landed a very lucrative contract with Calgon bath oil beads. So we were their twins for a year and a half." After completing their commercials, the twins used their revenues to begin developing their first cosmetics line: Out of the bathtub and into business.

With the goal of creating a line of cosmetics superior to department store lines, Danielson and Blackford took their ideas to a number of chemists they had formed relationships with while working for Calgon. "What we really wanted to do when we started our first store, called 'The Face Place' was to have a sort of apothecary, a store that could complement any skin tone and any skin range. It's almost like an art store for faces rather than a cosmetics line," describes Danielson.

Their initial efforts met with success, leading them to open a subsequent two, three, then four stores of their own, with a line of about 600 different items. Blackford remembers one of their first customers, a very busy woman attorney. "I didn't know how to sell anything. We opened the door and she walked in, and we were like, 'Oh, hi!'" Always a tag team, Danielson jumped in and asked the woman how they could help her. "She said, 'I'm in a hurry. All I want is a mascara.' I kind of quickly said, 'Seeing as how you are such a gal in a hurry, why don't you get two mascaras and that way you can do both sets of eyelashes at the very same time.' And she said, 'Excellent idea.' Now try to figure how she was going to do that. Where do you put the tubes? Between your knees?"

The sisters' new concept was such a hit, that in 1990, they decided to develop their niche in the national cosmetics industry. They redeveloped their whole product line under the new name BeneFit, focusing on providing women with products that solve problems, while being unique, creative and fun. BeneFit now boasts customers from California to Florida to Europe, with BeneFit counters in many up-scale stores, as well as company stores and salons in San Francisco. "Playing with the majors is a challenge. We're being compared with Lancome and Chanel," acknowledge the twins. "We're the trade's renegades. It is really fun to come in in the morning wondering what the staff has come across today. We get letters from people in the Philippines wanting to know about the line and in Hong Kong."

The secret of their success seems to be creative thinking and selective marketing. Blackford and Danielson have kept their cosmetics lines exclusive by carefully choosing the stores in which they are sold. They want to keep a certain pinache to their products. They're seeking a sense of flair and have turned down more offers than they've accepted.

Exclusivity has only attracted more BeneFit customers. Of course, their product names have added to the intrigue as well. Some of their more famous product color names — Roadkill, Crazy For Melon, and Warm As Toast Brown — are the result of brainstorming by the twins and their creative staff.

Danielson recalls naming a new color line Indecent Exposure while driving in her car. "Jane was with me, and we had a couple of other creatives with us. We were driving along and all of the sudden I saw this bail bond billboard and thought, 'Why do people get arrested?' Then I thought, 'Oh, indecent exposure.' Then we went on to Book 'Em, First Offense, and But Officer..." Blackford contributed her expertise by creating a display of jail cell bars with models' faces behind them.

In addition to its colors, BeneFit is also known for its problem-solving products. With items such as De-Groovie, which prevents lipstick feathering; Boo-Boo Stick, for blemishes; and Eye Bright Stick, for a 4 p.m. pick-me-up; the twins have captured a following of customers looking for quick, inexpensive face-lifts. They call this line "Itty-Bitty Fake-Its" and market it as though they are the customers' best friends.

Blackford recalls that her idea for LipPlump came to her while watching a SuperBowl: "They always run the new commercials. Here comes the Nike pump shoe, and I thought, 'That's what we need, something to pump up our lips.'" Blackford also confesses that many of their products are designed around their needs, as 46-year-old women. (Danielson often fibs and says she's a year older so people will say, "Boy, you look good.")

To reach a different market, the businesswomen created and developed their LookMaker's catalog with a mail-order 800-number. They consider the catalog their labor of love and write all the copy themselves. One catalog section is introduced by the comment, "Hey Girlfriend ...You're Beautiful. No nasty wrinkle or bump is going to spoil your fun. Itty-Bitty Fake-Its hide anything. Kind of like best friends who keep secrets."

Explains Blackford, "It speaks our philosophy. It feels like you have walked into one of our boutiques, you know, our little locker room." Customers describe the BeneFit stores as "90s Bohemian," "locker room fun," and "an upbeat store with fabulous color and treatment."

The attention grabbing power of being twins, combined with their sense of humor and style, have aided the Theta look-alikes' marketing efforts. They've promoted their business via national television and a grand opening at Harrod's in London with about 150 different beauty editors from all over Europe in attendance. They have been on the Joan Rivers "Can We Shop" program and featured in Glamour, Shape, Seventeen, Mademoiselle, Redbook, Elle, Alure and Vogue. Some of their more famous clients include Danielle Steel, Darryl Hannah, Jackie Collins, plus lots of local celebrities.

The twins' humor and cosmetic genius often spills over into their everyday lives. On a camping trip with friends in Maine, Danielson recalls playing a practical joke on a friend's husband when he asked for a treatment for his dry hands. Her cure? Self-tanning cream. "We were rock climbing about four hours later, and he looks down at his hands and says, 'Oh my God! What's wrong?' I just cracked up, I was laughing so hard. He had a wonderful tan from the wrists down."

The Theta alumnae give credit to their experience in Kappa Alpha Theta for contributing to their careers. Says Danielson, "The years in the house were the only years that we lived collectively with women. I think that certainly sparked us and gave us the drive that we needed. And, the intimacy that we had with all of these young women gave us the enthusiasm we needed and really brightened our lives so that we could go on and be as creative as we have been. We are in business with women, for women."
